Our strategic plans include:

- Focus on strong opportunities in the Permian Basin in West Texas
- Execute on proven oil reservoir drilling programs in Eastern Kansas
- Select high-value leases in the Gulf Coast, when properly evaluated and priced
- Equity investment capital structure with low leverage
- Low Lease Operating Expenses and Company overhead
- Focus on maximizing shareholder's returns

Company Highlights

After installing a new management team this year, Rangeford has negotiated acquisition on attractive low risk shallow infill drilling projects in the Permian Basin in West Texas and Eastern Kansas.

West Texas – Permian Basin

Sonora (Letter of Intent): 10,400 net acres held by production located in the Permian Basin, Sonora area in Schleicher & Sutton Counties, Texas. Field contains multiple stacked pay zones - 2 gas formations & 5 oil formations. Our initial strategy is simply to recomplete the 64 existing wells to produce from the oil formations; no drilling necessary. After the recompleting the existing wells, we intend to drill 120 new oil producing infill wells out of the 463 possible new well locations with 20 acre spacing. Total Reserves 18 MBOe with 1.8 MBOe proven. FY2017 Capital Budget $10.0 Million.

Reata Oil Shale Project (Under Negotiations): Opportunity to acquire 100% working interest in a net 14,337.25 contiguous lease acres in Pecos County, Texas. Three companies who are drilling wells on nearby acreage (Apache, Exxon Mobil and Concho Exploration) have already expressed interest in future acquisitions. Recently, Apache announced nearby successful drilling operations in the Alpine High Formation. FY2017 Capital Budget $20 Million ($1,395/acre).

Eastern Kansas:

George (Under contract): Purchase and Sale Agreement to acquire a working interest in leases comprising over 3,040 acres. Reserves of 6.7 MBO with .56 MBO Proven. Four test wells drilled. FY2017 Capital Budget $1 Million.
